

The Urban Arts Collective

at Urban Eats Café

February 2010 Shows

Café Specials with each Art Event!

Craig Downs

Tim Eissenhoffer

MissySue Hanson

Kung Fu Chicken

Saturday, February 13, 5-8

When Love Comes To Town —Craig Downs, Artist

In honor of Valentine's Day this show will feature landscapes and characters expressing, but of course, love. And Box Of Nerves band is live on the Urban Eats Stage. PLUS! Valentine's Eve Mystery Event! 8-11PM

Saturday, February 20, 5-8

The Edge- Tim Eissenhoffer, Artist

This show is called "the edge", where I played with and strained the so called rules of art training. There are barriers created by society, and by one's own code of life that requires pushing every now and then. Poster prints of select works to be sold for a donation and 100% will benefit the Sheldon Art & Music Educational Program for children.

Sunday, February 21, 11-3

Kung Fu Chicken-Daniel Shown & Carmelita Nunez, Artists

Fundraiser for Animal Rescue-10% of all sales of items marked "Animal Rescue" tags will be donated to Gateway Pet Guardians. Melt spins relaxing "brunch tracks" including downtempo, jazz, ambient, folk and more for your listening pleasure. Kung Fu Chicken is an interdisciplinary studio and we have work in a variety of sizes that can fill any space with joy. Carmelita Nuñez makes beautifully crafted functional ceramics, from small single serving cups to large platters. Daniel Shown is a mixed media painter and programmer whose works vary in size from 5"x5" to 4'x8'. Together they create installations that range from hip and casual boutiques to fully immersive art environments.

Saturday, February 27, 11-2

Displacement- Missy Sue Hanson, Artist.

A documentary study of self and women in general through portraits and digital collage

